DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1-16 and 19-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kumagawa et al. (6633272) in view of Hirota (6552705)

Regarding to claims 1-4, 8-11 Kumagawa discloses an apparatus and method for driving a liquid crystal display, comprising: modulating a source data by adding a compensation voltage V_c to the source data and supplying the modulated source data to a display panel at an initial period of one frame interval t_v (see the first compensation voltage V_c in Fig. 1); and applying the source data V_2 after the modulated source data to the display panel (delaying the source data while supplying the modulated source data to the display panel), see Fig. 1. The modulated source data inherently includes entire bits of the source data.

Kumagawa fails to disclose applying a black voltage data to the display panel for a portion of the frame period.

Hirota, in the same display field, discloses applying a black signal data to a liquid crystal panel (col.10, lines 46-61).

In light of Hirota, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art apply Hirota's black signal after the source data in the frame interval of Kumagawa's display. This would have been obvious because the black signal data prevents color disturbance in the display panel (see col. 11, lines 25-28, Hirota).

Regarding to claims 5-7, 12-14, the modified Kumagawa inherently teaches alternatively applying the modulated source data, the source data, and the black signal data in the frame period, wherein each data has a delay period and a select period the frame interval.

Regarding to claim 15-16 and 19-20, the modified Kumagawa further discloses a data driver applying the modulated source data, the source data and the black data to the display panel, a scanning driver applying a scanning signal to the display panel, and a timing controller applying the source data to the modulator, and controlling the data driver, the scanning driver, and a switching time.

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 17-18 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments with respect to the claims have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

5. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
